Living in Shame?

In the reading from St. John's first letter, he talks about our hearts condemning us. (1 John 3:20) When he says God is greater than our hearts he means that even when we know we have sinned, God is still a forgiving God, who doesn't wait for us to be "worthy." So when we confess our sins, we need not doubt that we are forgiven. But sometimes we feel shame when we have done nothing wrong, such as when you accidentally hurt someone. That is when it is good to remember that God knows what happened and still loves us. The best way to remember this is by living as God commands, by loving God and our neighbor. If you believe in Jesus, we know that God forgives us even before we ask him to. If you love your neighbor, then you reach out to the person you hurt, instead of hiding in shame, and try to help them.

When we stop living in shame and start living in love, we can ask for whatever we need and receive it. For when God lives in us and we live in him, we won't ask for anything trivial or selfish. His Spirit teaches us how to pray with confidence and faith. Our love and trust in God will help us to accept whatever God sends our way.

Tom Schmidt

Pastor's Letter

April 28, 2024

Dear Family:

John 15 is part of a longer discourse by Jesus (Jn 14-17) to help prepare his disciples for his death.

Today's Gospel reading revolves around three figures: God as the vine grower, Jesus as the vine, and Jesus' followers as the branches. We are invited to "remain" in Jesus, which appears eight times, and to "bear fruit," which appears six times.

The verb translated as "remain" also appears in John 14, where it is translated as "dwell" when Jesus presents God's house having many "places" for people to remain or "dwell" (Jn 14:2) and the divine remaining with or dwelling with Jesus (Jn 14:10). "Remain," then, refers to a relationship in which one feels at home, and it signifies the intimate and mutual love that exists between the Father and Jesus.

Fruitfulness as the result of "remaining" is also emphasized. The passage explains that the vine grower prunes to bring about growth and abundance. Moreover, bearing fruit is identified as a mark of discipleship.

The imperatives in this passage to "remain" and to "ask" may well be our fruitfulness - or something that has been pruned or cleansed by Jesus' teaching. If we follow the metaphor, the fruits borne by branches of a vine are not for the branches' consumption but for others' use of benefit.

Some questions for reflection:

What may be the significance that the second-person Greek pronoun ("you") in this passage is always in the plural?

How may we understand the specific meaning of bearing fruit in this passage? Does the passage in Acts 9 for today help as we consider this question?

In what ways do you find the passage from Acts meaningful on this Fifth Sunday of Easter?

Peace,

Fr. Greg

May Devotion The Blessed Virgin Mary

Her "yes" at the Annunciation illustrates the Blessed Virgin Mary's perfect humility, obedience, and openness to the Holy Spirit that we are called to imitate in our own lives. In becoming the Mother of God, she also became the Mother of the whole Church.

So, in the words of St. Francis de Sales: "Let us run to Mary, and, as her little children, cast ourselves into her arms with a perfect confidence."
